Dear Parents

CLASSIC BOOK WEEK

Throughout your child's education, it is important to introduce them to a variety of texts to enhance their language skills and understanding from different periods with different writing styles, which is why we are holding a Classic Book Week next week, commencing 20th November 2017. The chosen text for this activity week is A Christmas Carol.

Throughout the week, the children will be taking part in a variety of activities relating to the chosen text and the Victorian era from which the story is based. They will be making toys like spinning tops or a thaumatrope that the Victorian children used to play with; making some gruel...and of course tasting it! The children will also experience what it was like to go to school in the Victorian era.

Below is a timetable of the activities where the children will need a costume or change of clothes, or to bring something with them:

Monday, 20th Nov. 2017

Whole school dress up day

Children to dress up in Victorian costume – see attached sheet for some costume ideas for guidance, we don't expect parents to go and buy costumes.

The children should bring a 'penny' for education and there will be a fingernail check / inspection as they come in the classroom.
